Black Gay Weddings Co-Founders Lawrence & Michael Broughton to Appear on The Jennifer Hudson Show Ahead of "Legacy of Love Sundays" Premiere

Los Angeles, CA – Black Gay Weddings (BGW), the leading media platform celebrating Black LGBTQIA+ love and weddings, is set to make a major national television appearance on The Jennifer Hudson Show on February 28, 2025. This milestone moment comes just days before the highly anticipated premiere of Legacy of Love Sundays on March 2, 2025.

During the segment, Lawrence & Michael highlight the platform’s mission to amplify Black LGBTQ+ love stories, and share why representation in the wedding industry is more critical than ever. The appearance will also shine a light on LGBTQ-friendly wedding vendors who are paving the way for greater inclusivity in the industry.

“To have a platform like The Jennifer Hudson Show embrace our mission is monumental,” says Lawrence Broughton, Co-Founder of Black Gay Weddings. “We created BGW to ensure that Black LGBTQ+ couples and businesses are seen, celebrated, and supported. This national spotlight is a testament to the power of our community and the importance of sharing our love stories with the world.”

What to Expect on The Jennifer Hudson Show

- 🎯 An Unexpected Surprising Moment For Lawrence & Michael orchestrated by Jennifer & Her Team.
- 💍 Love, Commitment, and Visibility – Images of Real couples.
- 🏳️‍🌈 The Business of LGBTQ+ Weddings – How The LGBTQBizList is connecting couples with affirming wedding professionals.

Why This Matters

This feature on The Jennifer Hudson Show is a historic moment for Black LGBTQ+ representation in mainstream media. While progress has been made, Black LGBTQ+ love stories remain vastly underrepresented in wedding content and entertainment.

With a social reach of over 2.7 million unique accounts per month, BGW is bridging the gap, ensuring that every couple sees themselves reflected in the love stories we celebrate. The national exposure from The Jennifer Hudson Show will bring even more awareness to BGW’s mission while encouraging wedding vendors and engaged couples to “Get On The List” and be part of this movement.
